FORMER HUSBAND
DANGEROUS

Alleging that he followed her every place she went on July 24, and would stand and stare at her with haunting effect, Margaret P. Brown has appealed to the district court for a restraining order to prevent her divorced husband, Moroni E. Brown, from tormenting and making her life miserable.

Mrs. Brown recounts a series of threatening visits from her husband during which the latter has "used Violent and abusive language and caused her such fear and worry that she is breaking down under the strain. The last one of these visits, she says, was on the night of July 24. After her husband had followed her all day long, he went to the exercises at Glenwood park. Seeing her there, he approached her escort and, began sneering at him and swearing at her. She states that she was frightened and tried to prevent a fight because her husband was intoxicated and is a very dangerous man in that condition. A fight followed, asserts the complainant, and Brown "committed an unprovoked assault and battery" upon her companion, after which she had the former arrested. She enumerates a number of times that he has visited her home and cursed and intimidated her. The wife asks the court for relief so that she may go down town to do shopping without being in perpetual fear of his seeing her and commencing abuse.

Frank Beckstead versus Union Pacific Railroad Co. Defendant's motion for a change of place of trial to Salt Lake County was denied.

Henry Huseman versus S. S. Howard, et al. Plaintiff's demurrer to defendant's answer sustained and motion to strike from said answer is granted.

Merlin J. Bartholomew versus S. S. Howard, et al. Plaintiff's demurrer to defendant's answer sustained and motion to strike from said answer is granted.

Simrockt McFarland versus Salt Lake & Ogden Railway Co. Defendant's demurrer to plaintiff's third amended complaint is overruled; defendant's motion to strike certain portions of said amended complaint and motions to make more specific are each denied.

Samantha J. Hanley, an incompetent, etc., versus Patrick Hanley. The court finds that it is without jurisdiction and orders, therefore, that the action be dismissed.

KICKED BY A HORSE, WOMAN DIES AT OPHIR, UTAH

Word was received in Ogden this morning by telephone, announcing the death of Mrs. Ruth C. Bates, wife of Orin Bates, of Ophir, Tooele county, Utah. Mrs. Bates is the sister of George W. Larkin of this city, who left by auto immediately after receiving word of the death.

Mrs. Bates was 56 years of age, and beloved by many in the community in which she resided.

Yesterday morning she accompanied her husband to the barn and was kicked by one of the horses. Three ribs were broken and she suffered internal injuries, which caused her death.

A large family of sons and daughters survive; also two brothers, Geo. W. Larkin of Ogden and Joseph S. Larkin of Snowville, Utah.

"A Railroad Bandit," a drama of daring feats, featured by Marie Walcamp, at the Oracle Saturday only.

Washington, Aug. 3.—William L. Chambers, commissioner of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, was called in by President Wilson today in connection with the threatened strike of 400,000 employees of the railroads of the country. The president is anxious to get all the information possible on the situation necessary in order to intervene if a strike seems inevitable.

The mediation board is gathering facts in anticipation that the strike vote now being canvassed will favor a walk-out and that the railroads and their employees will be unable to reach an agreement. When this point is reached the board expects to be called in to attempt to settle the differences.

Crisis Is Expected. The president has referred to the department of labor an appeal from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for federal intervention. The situation is expected to come to a crisis August 8, when the result of the strike vote will be announced and another conference held between the representatives of the railroad and of the employees.

The mediation board takes the position that nothing of a formal nature can be done by it until after the result of the vote is known and the employers and employees finally fail to agree. The president, however, is considering whether some extraordinary action might be taken.

PLAGUE'S DEATH TOLL INCREASING

Forty-three More Children Die of Infantile Paralysis—217 More Cases Develop.

New York, Aug. 3.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis reached the high mark today in the number of new cases. The health department figures showed that 217 cases developed during the 24 hours ended at 10 a. m., and that the death toll for the same period was 43, two more than yesterday. Seventy-six were stricken in Manhattan alone, where the epidemic now appears to be centered.

A consignment of eighty South and Central American monkeys arrived here today on the United States fruit steamer Almirante. The animals, according to their custodian, M. Schmidt, are to be used in experimenting by physicians of the Rockefeller Foundation engaged in seeking a cure for infantile paralysis.

Fifty thousand dollars was contributed for this special work recently by the foundation.

GREAT TIE-UP IS IMMINENT

Heads of New York Traction Companies Unitedly Refuse to Grant Labor Demands.

New York, Aug. 3.—Despite the efforts of Mayor Mitchell and the public service commission to prevent a general strike on all the transit lines of this city, the danger of a tie up is regarded today as imminent. Heads of the various traction companies are reported to be united in a decision to refuse to grant the demands of leaders of the street railway men's union for recognition and increased pay.

Officials of the city, the New York Railways company, and the labor union said that by tomorrow a strike order probably would be issued affecting every surface line in the boroughs of Manhattan and Queens.

Prior to the hour set for the meeting between representatives of the traction companies and union heads at Mayor Mitchell's office, William B. Fitzgerald, general organizer of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, announced that demands in behalf of the employees of the New York Street Railways company and the New York and Queen's Railway company, would be presented to the companies today and that they would be given until 6 p. m. tomorrow to give their answers. If unfavorable a strike vote, among the employees would be taken, he said.

WOMAN SWINDLER IS PUT IN JAIL

Creston, Iowa, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Lilly Lewis, charged with using the mails to defraud, was put in jail here today in default of $2,000 bond after a hearing conducted by J. C. Hunt, United States commissioner.

It is alleged she is a member of an organization engaged in insuring blooded horses for large sums of money, killing inferior animals, substituting their bodies and collecting the insurance.

The similarity in some many cases where horses were found under trees from which the bark had been peeled to indicate a stroke of lightning led to an investigation and the alleged exposure. It is said the conspiracy exists over the central west and that other arrests will follow.

Havre, France, Aug. 3, 4:56 p. m.—The sinking of the German gunboat Graf Von Gotsen in a duel with the Belgian gunboat Netta on Lake Tanganyika is announced in an official statement issued by the Belgian government.

The text follows: "Lieutenant-Colonel Moulert telegraphs that while cruising off the German shores of Lake Tanganyika the Belgian gunboat Netta commanded by Lieutenant-Lieutenant Moulert on July 28 the German gunboat Graf Von Gotsen landed troops. The Netta immediately engaged her and she sank in fifteen minutes after vainly trying to escape. The Netta then scattered by her fire enemy troops and porters who had just been landed. It is not known whether the crew of the Graf Von Gotsen were saved. There were Belgian casualties."

POLICE TRY TO GET
GYPSY TO TESTIFY

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Chicago police are trying to induce Miss Marino Zorka, Buffalo, wife of a gypsy in Colorado Springs, to return to testify against her father, Joseph Marino, chief of a gypsy tribe in Los Angeles accused of swindling.

According to the police Marino accepted $1000 from John Guy, a Chicago gypsy, for the hand of Zorka. Then, en route to California, Zorka met William Buffalo who fell in love with her and obtained her consent to marriage and her father's also, paying $2000 to the latter. Marino, however, is charged by Guy, neglected to return his $1000 and a warrant was issued for him. Zorka is 17-years-old.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MEXICAN BAND

Washington, Aug. 3.—Major-General Funston reported today that no trace could be found of the band of Mexican raiders reported yesterday to have crossed into American territory near Fort Hancock, Texas.

His message follows: "General Bell makes report that commanding officer of cavalry sent to Finlay last night states that he had locality where 15 Mexicans were reported to have been seen thoroughly secured and saw no signs of any raiders. MEXICAN OFFICIAL
CRITICALLY ILL

Washington, Aug. 3.—Unofficially reached the state department today that Juan Amador, the Mexican undersecretary for foreign affairs who has been ill, was in a critical condition. Amador played an important part unofficially in the conferences last May between General Scott and General Obregon, his position being generally regarded as antagonistic to the American objects. It was suggested by officials that his condition might be a factor in the delay at Mexico City in arranging details for a joint commis-

TRAINING NATIONAL GUARD COMPANIES

Washington, Aug. 3.—Provision was made by the war department today for the training of national guard machine gun companies in federal service. Instructions were given that not to exceed 3,000 rounds per gun be used for target practice. The guardsmen are equipped to a large extent with the machine gun of American design which is being used by Canadian troops on European battlefields, but has never before been part of American army equipment.

WHEN A GIRL IS SIXTEEN

As we look for the flowering of a plant, we surround it with all the air and sunshine that we can for its best unfolding. We expect fruit from the tree, and wait for the moth with wings of gorgeous color to emerge from the dull prison of its gray cocoon.

But Dorothy at sixteen, the flowering period of her life puzzles us. We find it hard to understand the transition stage of her life during which she bursts the cocoon of childhood and finds the wings of life that will carry her away from us; or help to keep her well balanced at home.

Dorothy, a few months ago, was as free in her work and in her play as a colt, and as thoughtless. Long braids, wind blown, her short gingham skirts flying about the strong young limbs that took her on long races over the hills with her mates, she was just your little girl. Today, she is a changeling. You cannot believe that she is yours. You wonder if you have lost her.

She spent last Saturday sewing at a friend's house and she came home to supper with her skirt lengthened to her shoe tops. She brought a fashion sheet with her, and she was late for church Sunday morning because she spent so much time doing up her brown locks in the latest mode that she had seen pictured. When you scolded her for it, she blushed guiltily, and then she grew darkly sullen, as if she were of a mind to dress her self, now, as she wished, not as you wish. After service she met the new bank clerk and they walked part way home together. And Dorothy, but yesterday, was scornful of boys. She would go out of her way to avoid meeting one.

Already impatient of her home, Dorothy says that she wants to go to the city to try to get work in some big moving picture studio. She says that if she is not allowed to go away from the country, she will run away.

Will this girl ever come back; will our girls be ours again after this mighty travail of adolescence, and the birth struggle of her dawning sex, is the inquiry of every mother at this stage in her daughter's life.

Of course she will. She is with you now, in spirit. Her very endeavor to cut home apron strings shows how much she needs the home at this period and how much the home can do for her.
